- the Institute for Catastrophic Loss Reduction on property damages noted across the Canadian landscape in recent years
- a discussion session among members, leading to the creation of a tip sheet with ideas for personal & lake association preparedness
- a presentation about the ways a natural shoreline can enhance your property's resilience in the face of these climate changes
- water sampling under the Lake Partner Program
- FOCA's project with partners to investigate septic maintenance programs across the province
- an update on FOCA's 2018 work, including an overview of benchmarked survey results about trends in our member associations, as part of FOCA's strategic planning process.

Policy Updates & Government Affairs

Your Call-to-Action: write to the Minister!

At the 2018 FOCA Fall Seminar, Board President Marlin Horst issued a call-to-action for all FOCA members, to write to the Hon. Rod Phillips, Ontario Minister of the Environment, Conservation & Parks, in support of the ongoing efforts of the Lake Partner Program. Get details, and a link to draft wording for your own letter, here:

Environmental Protection Report

November 13, 2018 - Dr. Dianne Saxe, Environmental Commissioner of Ontario, released the 2018 Environmental Protection Report, titled Back to Basics, in a series of 4 sub-reports on clean water, respecting the public's voice on the environment, wildlife & wilderness, and Southern Ontario wetlands & forests. Find the reports here:

<https://eco.on.ca/our-reports/environmental-protection/>.

The ECO's press release, accompanying the reports, spoke keenly to us:

"It is unbelievable that in 2018, the government allows this much filth into our lakes and rivers," said Saxe. "These are the places Ontarians spend time with their families, where they swim and fish. These shorelines and waters are home to Ontario's rich biodiversity, and to us."
